WE NOMINATE

John Henry Ginter, a "landmark" in this area for over 35 years and a perceptive observer of the modes and attitudes of those he strives to serve, who in the weeks ahead will be "stepping down" from the pulpit of the First Presbyterian Church of Hopewell. It was in April, 1928, that the 66-year old Ginter entered upon a ministry which spans the most dramatic decades in the shaping of this segment of Central New Jersey and, also, stirs memories of a bygone era when longevity of pastoral service in rural regions was most often measured in dozens of years.

For Ginter, the father of two sons, the grandfather of three and understandably proud that he has "only been out of the pulpit twice in 35 years because of illness," his retirement from historic Hopewell's First Church, effective July 31st, will not mean concentration on the leisure-time activities traditionally associated with the "golden years." As a new resident of nearby Flemington, he will join the ranks of the so-called "multiple ministry" and as minister of visitation for the Flemington Presbyterian Church will certainly avoid the pitfalls of boredom—and will be sorely disappointed if he has "an easy life."

As Hopewell, dating back to the late 1600's, has advanced to its present state of being "semi-rural and somewhat urban," a state including a liberal sprinkling of commuters, the Pennsylvania-born Ginter has ever been aware that in a constantly changing world "we have not developed a changing human being." While religious roots might not be as deep as they were in a more tranquil period, and while stress on the "social gospel" has possibly enabled some to find their "religious needs in service organizations," it is Ginter's conviction that the "hard teachings" of Christianity will always provide the "direction of life" — whatever the world around us might have to offer.

Ginter, who is anything but sanguine about what might be expected through the deliberations of Ecumenical Councils, is concerned about what he terms "one of the bulwarks of the Protestant Church," the role of the laity. He senses a growing lack of response to responsibilities on the part of laymen and feels that this could conceivably be attributed to professional specialization within the church — for example, ministers of music and church education. Laymen, Ginter contends, can often "do better than trained professionals and with more lasting results" and, through such contributions, can "experience their faith and conviction."

A native of Lancaster, an early capital of Pennsylvania, and reared in the Evangelical Church, Ginter before enrolling in Albright College (Reading, Pa.), at age 21 worked a 56-hour week in silk mills for some seven years and then underwrote his college education as a part-time silk weaver. He joined the Presbyterian Church in 1925, completed his theological training in Princeton Seminary and guided the Presbyterian Council in New Gretna, N. J., before "moving on" to Hopewell for a remarkable tenure only interrupted by a 32-month tour of duty as a World War II Army Air Force chaplain, an assignment he had volunteered for a quarter-century earlier, short months before the Armistice.

For looking upon the church as the "home base" offering the individual "reality in spiritual things"; for his sense of humility and devotion in defining the "bigness of the task I am trying to fulfill"; for his abiding appreciation and understanding of the common sense "God created within us"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

MAJOR PROJECT AT HAND

"Consolidation" Study Set. Forty-eight Princeton residents—Borough and Township—will begin work next week on an undertaking which may have a more profound effect on the future of Princeton than any project in the history of the two communities.

It is the study of the Joint Committee on Municipal Operations. The 48 Princetonians are members of the eight subcommittees named by the parent committee to "study the desirability and feasibility of joint functioning of the municipalities in the several areas of municipal organization and endeavor, both with and without political integration."

In short, it is the "consolidation" study, although the letter of greeting from Mayor Henry Patterson, Jr. of the Borough and Mayor R. Kenneth Fairman of the Township, never employs that emotion-laden word.

Overall direction of the study has been assumed by Robert V. Dilley, named to the director's post last April. To assist him, the Joint Committee has appointed E. Victor Wolfenstein, a graduate student who will serve as amanuensis.

LET'S KEEP IT UP! It takes time and energy to run an enterprise as encompassing as the Princeton Hospital Fete, but 3,500 volunteers and their co-chairmen have been saying "Let's Keep it Up!" for many months now, and their efforts will come to a climax this Saturday when the 10th annual Fete is held on Fitzpatrick Field. Mrs. Roland T. Ely (left) and Mrs. Hibben Ziesing are the co-chairmen.

Who and What. The two mayors have suggested a deadline of December 1, 1963 for sub-committee reports and a starting schedule of two meetings this June, one before June 14 and a second before June 28.

These are the eight study committees:

● Administration and Finance. C. W. Cornforth, chairman; James A. Arnold, Ellwood W. Godfrey, C. A. Hurford, J. B Redding and Stanley C. Smoyer.

This committee will examine not only the office of mayor and governing body, but also the functions of administrators, clerks, tax assessors and collectors, auditors and municipal attorneys.

● Planning and Zoning. Samuel Frothingham, chairman; H. B. Erdman, Edgar M. Gemmell, Lewis S Kraft, Bryan V. Moore, John S. Mount, Hans K. Sander and Robert J Sullivan.

Zoning and planning boards, building inspection, master plans and zoning ordinances, building codes and building permits and inspection procedures will lie in the province of this sub-committee.

● Police, Courts and Civil Defense. Howard Menand, Jr., chairman; Henry S. Dyer, Mrs Cynthia Lund, Herbert McAneny, Henry M. Stratton, and William H. Walker, Jr.

Included in the portfolio of this sub-committee, whose title is self-explanatory, will also be the violations bureaus.

● Fire Protection. Robert F Mooney and Joseph R. Nini co-chairmen; George Callighan, James Pace, J. J Stemmle and E. L. Wilbur.

● Engineering, Sanitation, and Public Works. Frederick Richards, chairman; W. W. Augustine, Bruce H. French, O V. Houghton, John H. Meyer and Carl Schafer, Jr.

This committee will examine the work of road and street departments, the operation of sewers and the question of shade trees.

● Health. Dr Charles H Place, chairman; Dr. Alfred S Cook, Jr., Erling Dorf and Orren Jack Turner.

Housing and public health codes, the work of health departments and of the municipal boards of health will be studied by this sub-committee.

● Welfare and Public Housing. Henry S. Broad, chairman; Mrs. John Ahrens, Edmund S DeLong and the Rev. David H McAlpin, Jr.

The question of public assistance, the welfare departments, aid to health institutions and public housing will come under the review of this sub-committee.

● Open Space and Recreation. J. Oliver Gluyas, chairman; Albert A Austen, James C. Sayen, Mrs Simeon Hutner, L. H. Laughlin and the Rev W. D. Wagoner.

In addition to the sub-committee members named above, a representative of the Township's Recreation Commission will serve on this committee.

The study of public schools will be undertaken by the school boards of both Borough and Township.

The Plan. A two-and-one-half page detailed outline will serve as a broad guide to these 48 as they proceed with their studies. First, they will analyze existing municipal structures, functions and operations.

Then, they will look into the future and consider joint operations short of political consolidation and finally, they will apply all these criteria to joint operations with actual political consolidation of Borough and Township.

It will be a detailed study. What exact functions does a given office, say, the tax as-

Round-Up

At the Township Committee meeting last Monday one welcome bit of information under "new business" was a report by Committeeman William L. Wilson on a visit to see Mayor Fairman, who recently underwent surgery in New York for an arthritic hip joint . . . The mayor was said to be doing nicely . . . He will be hospitalized for about five more weeks, however, according to the report.

The weather tabulators figure that the merry month of May was unmerry in that it produced only about two inches of rain . . . or about half of the average expected . . . Half-an-inch on June 3 helped, but we obviously need more . . . and more . . . and more.

Minor police docket entries: Sign stolen from The Country Mouse, 164 Nassau . . . Police think it is probably resting now in some undergraduate's room at the University, that great repository of signs of all shapes and sizes . . . Police add that the University boys may well have more Princeton street signs than the Borough does.

Monday night last, Lena M. Wikland, of Griggstown, tore down approximately 15 feet of iron fence bordering the cemetery at Wiggins and Witherspoon when her car, travelling west on Wiggins, left the road . . . Driver uninjured, given ticket for careless driving.

All golf hackers can now approach the game with new courage and vigah . . . One Princeton resident celebrated his own private Memorial Day in finally burying the fact that he'd never cracked 100 (despite once standing on the 18th tee with only 89 blows used up) . . . By dint of perseverance and the aid of enough specially-made clubs to give him just about a full complement of woods from 1 through 9, he breezed around Springdale in 99 on May 30 . . . Yes, of course he now has his eye on breaking into the 80's.

Minor grease fire in Viedt's on Tuesday afternoon was soon extinguished by Red Glover of Borough Engineer's office . . . Health department checked out restaurant, gave its okay to Viedt's to proceed with business "after throwing out those pies."

Names and pictures of many of those receiving degrees during the commencement season will be found on pages 20 and 21, while "Business in Princeton" (page 27) features an illustrated report on an Old World emigrant who has just retired after almost four decades on the Princeton scene . . . a review of photographer Ulli Steltzer's work, currently on display, appears in the art column, page 22.

Variety is the theme of the sports section (28-31), which covers in this issue sailing, golf, tennis, bowling, baseball, track, softball and year-end athletic awards . . . Children's Day services, a book commemorating the Seminary's sesquicentennial, a major fund raising program at Dutch Neck and an honor bestowed on the wife of a well-known Princeton pastor are among the topics on the church page (32).

Letters to "Mailbox" (page 9) deal primarily with the question of low-cost, federally-financed housing but also carry a plea addressed to dog lovers and tell of a little train that wasn't there . . . The Planning Board's report on parking is a featured story in Topics of the Town, as are news of a major meeting or recreation, the latest developments in space satellites at RCA's Astro-Electronics Division and a series of thefts from Palmer Square and Prospect Street apartments.

sessor's office, perform? What are the legal boundaries that define the office's work?

What is the job title of everyone in the office? What is his job description? How old is the employee and how long has he been at work in this job? For study purposes, the committee will then prepare an organization chart of the office in question.

Square Feet. How much space is now used by that tax assessor's office? (Or the welfare office? Or the police department?) What kind of equipment is now in use, and how old is it and when will it probably have to be replaced.

What procedures has the department worked out for preparing its budget, allowing for salary increases and additions to its staff? How about the maintenance of equipment, from street sweepers to typewriters? What about operating supplies?

Then, of course, the committees will consider the question of costs and will establish, as nearly as possible, the direct cost per function.

With this material in hand, the committees will then list all the functions common to both communities, will identify the functions not, at present, common to both, and will try to look ahead into the future.

Present and Future. All present employees will be considered when organization charts for the future are drawn up. Present-to-future personnel will be "phased in" at two years intervals, and their number and salary considered.

The committees will tag the physical equipment necessary to provide combined functions, (police cars, snow removal equipment and so on) and they will also tag physical facilities that are now surplus.

With cost once again in mind, committees will estimate the dollar savings, administrative efficiencies and increased services that might result if two corresponding departments were merged. And, with all these facts down in their notebooks, committee members will project them out to actual political consolidation, considering all the legalities.

Members of the parent Joint Committee on Municipal Operations are, besides the two mayors, William H. Walker, Jr., C W Cornforth, John B. Redding, Jr., Orren Jack Turner, Ellwood W Godfrey, John O. Green, Jr., Maurice F Healy, Jr., James A. Arnold, Jr., William M. Beaney, Stanley C Smoyer and Mr. Dilley.

PARK PLACE PROVIDES PARKING PLACES: Monday morning at 9, Mayor Henry S. Patterson snipped the symbolic ribbon and thereby officially opened the new 79-car parking lot on Park Place. There is also an entrance to the lot from Vandeventer Avenue. Present at the ceremony were, (left to right) former Councilman John B. Redding Jr., Councilman Alfred E. Sorenson, Mayor Patterson, former Mayor Raymond F. Male, and Councilmen Ellwood W. Godfrey and William H. Walker. Messrs. Redding and Male were instrumental in selecting the site.

SITE CHANGE APPROVED

For University Building. "I have a guilty feeling that if I vote 'yes,' I'm setting a precedent for seven-story buildings in the Borough of Princeton," mused Webster Dodge, chairman of the Borough Planning Board at Tuesday night's meeting.

The Board had just heard University planners present their second choice of site for the proposed University administration building. The first was on the southeast corner — approximately — of College Road and University Place. The new site is 285 feet due south, just about straight east of the present baggage depot.

At the end of the evening, the Board gave its approval to the request by a narrow 4-3 decision. As he had indicated he might, Mr. Dodge voted against the site switch and was backed by Dr. Charles R. Erdman and E. G. Hofgesang. In favor were Mayor Henry Patterson, Alan W. Carrick, Arthur S. Morgan and Arthur Brokaw.

The University likes this spot better because it fits in with plans for an entrance plaza and mall which would eventually be the main automobile entrance to the Princeton University campus. It is the hope, and the expectation, of the University that the present Pennsylvania railroad station will be razed, which makes the second site even better; however, they prefer the second location even if the station should remain.

Edward L. Barnes, architect of the building, told the Board he thought a low, squat three-story structure would be a mistake because it would take up so much land. Alan Carrick, Board member, suggested that the basic zoning principle was "are you taking light and air from other people?" by constructing a tall building. In this case, surrounding property owners would not be affected because the building is on the University campus.

The University must re-apply to the Zoning Board for a special permit before the public hearing.

How Long Do You Park? Presenting his long-anticipated parking meter survey to the Planning Board, Borough engineer Arthur Brokaw ran into opposition from Albridge C. Smith III of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce who said that Chamber survey results did not jibe with Borough engineer results.

Filming 188 meters and the licence plates of cars parked next to them, the engineer's office found that half an hour seemed to be enough for most parkers. On Nassau street, 355 cars parked at the half-hour meters and 322 cars used the one-hour meters for only one-half hour.

"Looks as though we need twice as many half-hour meters on Nassau Street," commented Dr. Erdman.

"This has nothing to do with public opinion," retorted Mr. Smith. "You made your survey on two days (April 1 and 3). This doesn't prove a thing in terms of year-round parking."

Mr. Smith quoted Opinion Research Corporation in connection with the Chamber's survey: 78 percent of the people polled wanted one-hour parking on both sides and only 11 percent wanted half-hour parking. Of the town's merchants, 88 percent favored some kind of change, and of this 88 percent, 92 percent wanted one-hour parking on both sides of Nassau.

Mr. Smith asked for a meeting with Planning Board representatives and Mr. Brokaw to compare statistics, and Mayor Henry Patterson agreed. "We've been kicking this parking thing around long enough," the Mayor said.

RECREATION AHEAD?

Meeting Set for Monday. The long-awaited Community Gardens recreation report from the Township's Board of Recreation Commissioners and the Borough's Recreation Committee will be spread out before Princeton residents Monday at a public meeting scheduled for 8:15 at Princeton High School.

Eager for the largest possible audience, members of both groups have sent flyers to all Princeton service organizations, including Rotary, Kiwanis, Lions, the Chamber of Commerce the Jayeees and women's organizations and have also urged members of the high school PTA to attend.

At the meeting, the two groups will outline their hopes and plans for Community Gardens, the area that straddles Route 206 near Township Hall.

Highlights of the presentation will be:

- Swimming and wading pool, bath house, parking area, fences and lighting: $339,000.
- Grading and draining "South Side II" (near Township Hall) for playing fields (hardball and softball diamonds), tennis courts, court games, parking areas, fences: $229,000

- Draining a swampy area on the north side of 206 and damming a small stream to create a lagoon (ice-skating in winter), lay out paths, make picnic grounds and build more tennis courts. $281,000.
- Included in the north side plans is a building, pagoda style, which would provide a skating grandstand in winter and a rain shelter in summer

- Apart from these recommendations, the two groups suggest an eventual indoor skating rink adjacent to the lagoon. This would be an out-and-out money-maker (the swimming pool would be a break-even operation) and would cost about $481,000
- Financing the total of $850,000: Borough and Township would each budget 5 percent of the value of the long-term bonds they would issue To finance the whole park, except the rink, each municipality would appropriate $21,500. To build the pool complex, each would appropriate $8,475; to develop the south side, $7,025. The rink would require $12,025.

FETE'S HERE!

Ready for Saturday? A high-flying balloon will be guest of honor at the 10th annual Princeton Hospital Fete Saturday, showing its colors from above the center of Fitzpatrick Field to symbolize the Fete's 1963 theme — "Let's Keep it Up!"

The Fete, sponsored each year by the Women's Auxiliary of Princeton Hospital, will be held from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. at the Field, which is next to Palmer Stadium. All proceeds will go to the Hospital. Last year's Fete showed a net of $27,839.54

I guess it's nice
To have it rain,
But — whoops!
There grows
My grass again!
— LON MOORE

Despite May's precipitation shortage (a good two inches) lawns in these parts seem healthy enough, and rain this week saw to it that they stayed that way.

With the arrival of June, humidity began moving into the picture. The muggy weather that set in Tuesday is due to stay awhile, although a pleasant, cooler day for the Hospital Fete is Saturday's forecast.

Men, women and children — there's something for everybody at a Hospital Fete. The auction, always a major attraction, will offer a surrey and a kayak, household appliances and antiques, fine old silver and the sign that used to hang over "The Bait" restaurant.

The Lane of Shops will have a Boutique this year, as one of eight booths selling handcrafted articles made by women in the Princeton area (Stuffed animals? Beach hats Aprons? Dressed dolls? All here.)

Hunger, Anyone? A gourmet booth will have casseroles made from old family receipies. A hot-dog stand will have frankfurters made from standard commercial recipies. With mustard. And soft drinks.

For the men, there will be girl-dunking in which a properly thrown baseball will trip the lever that dunks a girl (live) into a tub of water (wet). The Men's Midway, staged as a project of the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, will also include games of skill, strength and chance.

And a special feature for men — an exhibit and seminars on the work of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, to be held in the ROTC building next to Fitzpatrick Field. Seminars will be held at 2 and 4 p.m.

Younger men (around 8 or 10 years old) may join their sisters at Mary and Paul Ritts' Puppet Show, to be held in the entertainment tent. Singing and clowns here, too. And then, there's that doll contest, fortune telling, a trampoline and a big, noisy china smash. Cotton candy, snowballs and lemonade will fill in the gaps.

And a Rare Zinnia. In the garden tent, will be the 4,000 seedlings grown especially for the Fete by garden club members from miles around. There will be accessories here, too, ranging from stone statuary to tool holders.

Throughout the day, along the Mall, Florence Taylor will sketch portraits with her palette of pastels.

Not to be outdone by the 3,500 volunteers, the professionals will be on hand, too: technologists from Princeton Hospital's own lags, will give their time to check your blood. Not to see whether you have any, but to see whether you're the positive type, the negative type or perhaps some very rare breed indeed. There will be no charge for the blood test (takes only two minutes), but you have to provide the raw material yourself.

See you at 9 a.m.!

HOUSING AND HOSPITAL

Council to Hear Both. The Borough has made its own check, independent of the Housing Authority, to determine the need for public housing for the elderly and has found that the need does exist.

Mayor Henry Patterson said Tuesday at his weekly press conference that Mrs. John H. Ahrens, Borough welfare officer, knew of many, particularly elderly single people, who were forced to pay for a bigger apartment that they needed or could afford because no other facilities were available.

Mrs. Ahrens will appear before Borough Council Tuesday, together with other agency heads, when Council hears the Housing Authority's case for low-cost public housing on Harrison Street.

"There is sentiment for and understanding of, this problem on the part of Borough Council," said Mayor Patterson. "There is considerable sympathy for both the site and the plan, in principle."

Mayor Patterson said that the authority must present its case to Council because federal housing authorities will not give official preliminary approval to a project unless the site and the general plan are approved in principle by a town's governing body.

Chances for a privately-financed housing project for the elderly were discounted by Mayor Patterson. "There is no indication that private enterprise would, or could, provide apartments at the rent level needed," he said.

"CROOKED AS A PRETZEL." That's the phrase Rudy Schuler (right) uses to describe the way the bookies run a lottery. He and Stephen Jacopec would be in favor of a state-run lottery to raise revenue. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: Would you favor or oppose a state-run lottery in New Jersey to raise revenue?

Where asked: Palmer Square.

Mrs. Harold Mantell, Fairway Drive, housewife: I would oppose it because it would draw money from the very people who are least able to afford it.

Harold E. Flanders, Florham Park, administrative engineer for Western Electric: I'd oppose it. I have the feeling the state of Nevada has more than its share of the criminal element as a consequence of its legalizing gambling. It may have a balanced budget but I believe it has invited undesirables and it is quite possible the same thing could happen here.

George Rousseau, 24 Dickinson Street, member of Princeton University: First of all, it would be a very good rationalization for people who are hoping to get into a lottery. Since the Middle Ages, people have been looking for excuses to get into gambling. Number two, it would immediately raise the difficulty of how you get a man to say how much was actually profit. There would be a problem of counting up. I would be opposed to it.

Mrs. Charles A. Thomas, Morrisville, Pa., secretary for Mettler Instruments, 20 Nassau Street: I really do think it would be nice because it would prevent any sales tax that Governor Hughes may be thinking of imposing. If'd be much betted to spend $3 on a ticket and have a chance of winning a million, wouldn't it? I don't see any objection to it; I think it would help the state out. I live in Pennsylvania and it's terrible over there. Four percent doesn't sound like very much but it is quite a lot when you add it up over a year. So I think if New Jersey could raise enough revenue through some sort of sweepstakes, it would be doing itself a big favor.

Walter Coan, 22 Charlton Street, carpenter: I certainly would not oppose it. If they can run a stock market, why can't they run a lottery? It's the same thing isn't it? I'd like to see them run a lottery for the hospitals in this state. If they'd use the funds only for charity, they'd all get in on it. Something I've always proposed is to have them take the revenue from the tracks for one day. If there were five tracks, take the revenue from one track one day and from another track the next and so on. Instead of giving just the profit to the hospitals they should turn over the taxes, too, because they amount to almost as much as they make.

Mrs. Barbara Brunsky, Cranbury, secretary, Construction Reports, Inc., 11 Chambers Street: I'd favor it for the simple reason a lot of people here in New Jersey and elsewhere buy tickets for the Irish Sweepstakes and I think they might as well buy a ticket here where it would benefit us directly. I don't think this is an invitation to gambling because the people who have a tendency to do that sort of thing are going to enter it anyway whether it is legal or not. It goes on all the time.

John T. Scanlon, Westfield, pharmacist: I'm in favor of it. I think it is an easy way to gain a certain amount of money quickly and legitimately. There is a terrific amount of betting done daily by the middle and poorer classes of people and we receive no benefit from it. They spend anywhere from a few cents to a dollar a day. Now if these people were to invest in a lottery, it would reap millions of dollars. At the same time it would give them a chance to bet on something run legitimately and they would be assured of their money if they won. The bookies only pay a certain percentage back to those whose number hits or whose horse wins. Look at all the money that is bet in New Jersey legitimately at the race tracks. Yet all that doesn't represent even half of all the money that is bet daily and illegally through bookies. It is unbelievable the amount of money that is bet each day.

Stephen Jacopec, 42 N. Tulane Street, upholsterer: I'd favor it. We spend our money wherever we can get lottery tickets — such as the Irish Sweepstakes — why not spend it here in New Jersey and get some benefit out of it. We're all gamblers by nature anyhow. You can't stop from gambling.

Rudy Schuler, Rocky Hill, upholsterer: I'd be 100% for it. Let's keep the money in the state and apply it to our road taxes and gasoline taxes. Look how much money is spent elsewhere. I'll bet that there is at least a couple million dollars going out of New Jersey on lottery tickets. This way, with the state running it, you can control it. The way the bookies run it, it's as crooked as a pretzel. Whatever you tell people they can't do, they are going to do. People are going to gamble no matter what you do.

Mrs. Beatrice Behrens, Cherry Hill Road, nurse: I would favor it. I think it would help those who are heavily burdened with real estate taxes. And there are plenty. Also, people who like to play the lotteries are going to go someplace else if it isn't available where they live, so why shouldn't the state benefit from this?

Norman Mastrup, South Bound Brook, machinist: Yes, I'm very much in favor of a lottery, especially since I don't gamble. Other people would be paying my bills. If they're dumb enough to gamble, let them spend their money. One thing it must be run honestly and all the money must go into state revenue.

Mrs. Roberta L. Morse, 124 Snowden Lane, labor market analyst: I'd favor it. I think it's an easy way to lose money.

FOR MOOD, A CLARINET

In Anouilh Play. A wandering clarinetist enhances the mood of "Thieves' Carnival," a play designed, according to its author, like a musical composition Jean Anouilh's comedy will open on Friday, June 14, in Murray Theatre as the final Contemporary Comedy production of Princeton Community Players.

It will be given again next Saturday, and also on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 20, 21 and 22. Tickets at $1.50 for Thursday and $2 for Fridays and Saturdays will be available at the box-office.

For this production, the Players will use a clarinet score written especially for them by Kalmen Opperman, New York clarinetist currently filling a chair in the "Oliver!" orchestra. The player will be Roger Staum, Princeton High School student who is Mr. Opperman's teacher.

Behind the scenes in this "Thieves' Carnival" will be Donald G. Warnock Jr. and Helen Van Zandt, scenery design and execution; Shirley Rennie, costumer; Susan Britton, makeup; Greta Childs, properties; Arthur Monsen, lights and sound; Miriam Leonwill, stage manager and Cornelia Rosmini, assistant to the director.

Sally Warnock will be house manager and Claude Kagan will be in the box-office. Lois Cohen is in charge of the program. Victor Auerbach is the photographer and John Lithgow has designed the poster and the program cover. Eric James is technical coordinator. And Esther Usiskin is the director.

HE'S THE YOUNGEST THIEF: William Patton graduates from Princeton High School the night before "Thieves' Carnival" opens in Murray Theatre, and that far-away look in his eye may mean that he is dreaming of past academic glories. His girl friend is Barbara Scheide, and both are featured in the Community Players' production, opening next Friday, June 14, and continuing the following weekend. (Victor Auerbach Photo)

McCARTER ON TV

In Two Programs. Two television programs, one this Sunday and one next Saturday, will feature McCarter Theatre in two widely different roles.

Excerpts from McCarter's high school Performing Arts Festival, held on May 8 and 9, will be televised on Channel 2 at 12:30 p.m. Sunday. More than 450 students participated in the two-day festival, presenting modern and classical drama, dance performances and musical offerings.

Groups from 15 public and parochial schools were selected from 40 schools which submitted shows to the selection committee. "Some of the groups came very close to the best work that's done in the non-professional theatre," said Arthur Lithgow, associated producer who co-ordinated this year's festival.

On Saturday, June 15, at 6:30 p.m. and Sunday, June 16, at 4 p.m., "Profile New Jersey" on Channel 13 will star Milton Lyon, McCarter producer; Mr. Lithgow and Dr. Max Bogart of the N. J. State Department of Education. They will discuss the general aspects of McCarter's varied program.

"MOON IS BLUE"

With Merv Griffin. F. Hugh Herbert's comedy, "The Moon is Blue" will open a two-week engagement at the Bucks County Playhouse, New Hope, Monday, with the television personality, Merv Griffin, as star.

The comedy will play through Saturday, June 22, with evening performances at 8:30 and matinees on Wednesday and Saturday at 2. There will be an extra matinee next Thursday.

First performed on Broadway in 1951, "The Moon is Blue" tells about a young couple who meet on the observation tower of the Empire State Building and eventually marry. What happens between the two events takes up Mr. Herbert's three acts.

THE GARDEN

A Long Day's Journey Into Night (now playing): In 1939, Eugene O'Neill, then 50 years old, wrote what he called "a play of old sorrow, written in tears and blood." He called the family the Tyrones, but retained first names of his own father and older brother, James and James Jr., or "Jamie." He calls himself Edmund, the name of his brother who died in infancy, and the scene is set in 1912, in the rambling old family summer home on the Connecticut shore.

In a single, supercharged day, O'Neill compressed events which actually took place during several months, emphasizing the bitterness of the household from which love has fled. The essence of the play is the characters, their revelations of themselves and inter-relationships.

The mother, Katharine Hepburn in her most arresting role, is a drug addict, a habit brought on by an inept physician after Edmund's birth. The father, played by Sir Ralph Richardson, was once a matinee idol, long since retired and now bitter and miserly. The older son, played by Jason Robards Jr., is an alcoholic; and Edmund (Dean Stockwell) is the tubercular, helpless observer of his family's agony.

The script is the O'Neill original virtually verbatim as written for the stage. Most of the action takes place in the single setting it had in the 1956 stage production. It is almost a filmed recording of a play which many regard as O'Neill's finest. Comment: O'Neill's people, exactly as he conceived them.

PLAYHOUSE and PRINCE

Hud (now playing) is an engrossing story of the modern southwest, putting father against son, integrity against the quick dollar.

PALM BEACH OR JERSEY

You'll Need Both. The Palm Beach we're talking about is at the Lawrence Shopping Center on a rack in the Browning Fifth Avenue men's shop, and next to it is the charming resort of Haspel, and you may have either for $39.95, American plan.

The suits are suavely dark and unobtrusively cool — perfect for a sweltering day in New York, day after sweltering day. Colors are medium grey and medium olive, and things like that.

Jacket wearers will head for the Madras, seersucker and dacron-wool designs, starting at $29.95. (Madras! There are shorts, shirts, belts, sports coats . . . .)

The play side is the big side at Browning's this time of the year. Why not a beach jacket like the woven cotton (warm and brushed on the inside) with a navy left side and a white right side and narrow red piping? Or a play set combining shorts and top in bright lemon (that's our favorite) or black? You can mix and match, or have both in the same shade. Play it for daring, we say.

With swim trunks (boxer or tank), wear any of the Browning shirts that are outside-in-side, in deep Glen plaids or cheerful stripes. You might prefer a leisure jacket with its V-cardigan neck and somewhat more worldly air.

Sports shirts (know a sport who needs a shirt for Father's Day?) start at $5 and go to $8.95 at Browning. Arnold Palmer contributes both walking shorts and knit shirts, the latter with a turnover collar and a $5 price tag. Colors! Yellow, blue, black, olive, another shade of blue.

Banlon sport shirts are $5.95, and Tycora (an aristocratic Banlon) are $8.95. Woven sport shirts are widely various, starting with a pin-check button down so conservative its checks are all certified, and going on through a maze that includes a shirt with two-inch red stripes. Some are cotton. Some are seersucker. Some are dacron and cotton. Some are batik. Some, inevitably, are Madras. And so it goes.

There are also short-sleeved white business (or "dress," if that is your nomenclature) shirts to wear before you get home to put on a sport shirt.

For after hours, or before hours, if you want to be technical, there is a shave coat, striking a demure length just above the knee, and featuring blue-grey or pale coral stripes against white. Price is $5.95. Could be worn to breakfast. Oh, yes . . they come in solid colors, too.

Neckwear, jewelry, shaving lotion, that kind of thing, all in plentiful supply at Browning. Our favorite just-what-I-needed present for Father's Day is a bright yellow canvas hat, stitched brim. Black Watch hatband and the jauntiest air you ever saw. Yes, there are quieter hats, like the Knox straws, but wait'll you see that yellow!

DIVE FOR YOUR SIZE

Need a Bathing Suit? Experienced swimmers who wear sizes 38-46 bathing suits and juniors who wear two-piece Winkys no larger than a report card are both given the courtesy of a fair hearing at Landau's, 114 Nassau. For the women, there are Arnels and cottons in flattering dressmaker styles, cannily fashioned with small, all-over prints like the black and white we like so much.

For the juniors, there is a two-piece denim-blue or denim-red with boy shorts and a top bare enough for daughter and demure enough to suit mother. Winky juniors are about $14.95. Other Landau suits are Catalinas — $14.95 to $25.95 — and Mermettes, from $8.95 to $14.95.

On the top price shelf are models like Catalina's Lycra in orange and green print, or a deep olive, cut very simply with elasticized waist. There's a gingham style, too, with cotton body and boy leg design. These Catalinas come in sizes 8-18.

Wear over any suit a heavy white cotton shift with cocky roosters in paisley cutouts all

Come Glide with Me

Remember when you were 8 and it was warm enough to go barefooted and your best chum was 8, too, and her father had one of those double swings out in the back yard in the shade, and each of you sat on the swings and pushed on the connecting floor with your feet to see how high you would go?

In an age of naturally curly wrought iron, planed down redwood and peeled bamboo, these swings have all the nostalgic appeal of summertime itself. We saw one just the other day on a tour of duty at Manning's furniture store between Lawrenceville and Trenton on Route 546.

You know the swing, surely. It consists of two small benches (two little girls can sit comfortably side by side; three's a crowd, as it always was). The benches face each other, with a floor of wooden slats in between, and all are connected by a bracing frame.

The gentle motion of your body moves the swings forward and back. If you want real altitude, stand up and pump with all your might!)

non, played by Melvyn Douglas. The conflict between them turned to hatred when Hud was responsible for the death of his brother in an auto accident. The pivotal character is young Lon (Brandon de Wilde), torn between his love and respect for his grandfather and hero worship of his uncle Hud.

The battle of wills reaches a peak when the old rancher learns that his cattle are diseased and must be destroyed. Hud is all for selling the beef before the news gets out.

The performances are excellent, with Melvyn Douglas particularly impressive as the patriarch in conflict with an era and a son he cannot understand. Paul Newman develops Hud as a complicated type of heavy, ruthless, always looking for ways to circumvent the law, yet retaining a likeable quality. The dialogue is as frank as anything that has hit the screen. Comment: violence and tragedy-straight from the Greeks.

around the hem ($5.98) or a long beach shirt in natural unbleached muslin or green.

For once, here's a Madras guaranteed NOT to bleed. It's in a raincoat, a garment in which bleeding would be undesirable, to say the least. This one has been treated. It's reversible with blue denim on the non-Madras side. $20. There's Madras reversible Chesterfield, too.

New on the shorts side this summer are Wrangler's slim, trim, dark blue dungarees in knee or Jamaica length for $2.95. Print shorts by Mark Hober have pleasing provincial designs of nuts and flowers and little twining vines.

With any of these, wear Gabey's of Lady Van Heusen's sleeveless shirts, some in solids, some in delicate prints with baby yellow roses. These are for languishing feminine types. Across the aisle are Catalina's tennis shirts for tomboys.

Under them all, for both kinds of girls, are Maidenform's "millions and millions of styles" and light-weight summer Lycra girdles.

UNDER THE UMBRELLA
Your Rib is Showing. Umbrellas, the lawn variety, are so sure of themselves at Manning's that each umbrella is willing to make a deal: if any part of the umbrella fails you, that part can be replaced. Rib and all. We found them, so staunch you would never guess that anything could go wrong, in such regional colors as orange and white with deeply scalloped black fringe and a good solid all white. Among others.

They have been set into round or oblong redwood tables, and one serves to shade two chairs: it has been inserted into the low table that lies between them.

Not the redwood type? Settle back in Carolina Forge's white wrought iron chair, curving and arch, upholstered for display in aqua print. Or consider the delightful white loveswing (well, it's a loveseat-sized swing) with a wide-brimmed, white fringed awning made of yellow and white and orange flowers.

Sophisticates buy California-Asia's wicker and rattan pieces, like the low contour chaise with slim black legs, or the 40-inch bar or the imperious peacock backed Maharani chair.

One of Manning's most interesting wrought iron combinations is the pair of curved back chairs with deeply tufted upholstered backs and seats and a joining table whose mottled glass top has been carved away at the sides to match the curves of the chairs.

For simpler establishments where there are still children climbing here and there, Manning's suggests the brightly colored, closely woven reeds on some white metal spring chairs, one with an invitingly tall back for your head.

Perhaps the most engaging summer offering is the white metal tea wagon with scrolling spokes on its two big wheels and graceful curves everywhere. We see it laden with bright flowers or the tallest, frostiest drinks your bartender can concoct.

CATTLEMEN'S CONFLICT: Paul Newman, Melvyn Douglas, Patricia Neal and Brandon de Wilde star in "Hud," a bitter story of contemporary ranching, now at the Playhouse and the Prince.

It's like buying a raffle for a hospital every time you buy a ticket. You don't mind losing it that way because you have a chance to give. I think it is a wonderful idea. You raise all that money for good uses like hospitals and at the same time you are giving people a hope that they might win a lot of money.

Ronald Hogeland, Trenton, student at Theological Seminary: I wouldn't approve of it. I don't think any government has to use this means to raise revenue. This is a form of gambling and gambling as such is outlawed in most states. Seems to me it is setting a bad example. It doesn't make it right just because it is being done by the state. We're saying wrong is wrong if it is done by the people but wrong is right if it's done by a state.

Mrs. Fred Johnson, Wiggins Street, housewife: I would favor it. I think it is a wonderful idea; that's what they do in Mexico. They use the money to help the blind and crippled people. They also get the people to sell the tickets so they won't be on relief. It's always been honest because the government handles it. Everything is legal; everything goes into the right hands. There never has been any scandal. There has been a lottery in Mexico for many, many years. It not only helps support the country but it gives hope to people that someday they may get rich.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kommler

We heard a talk by a Navy flyer, and made some notes on his explanation of the sonic boom, which we thought you'd find interesting. It is caused in the upper atmosphere by an aircraft operating at or beyond the speed of sound. Such speed causes a shock or pressure wave to build up in front of the plane instead of flowing by smoothly as at slower speeds, and it is that pressure wave that causes the explosive boom. Unusual conditions have been known to cause windows to shatter, pictures to fall, and old plaster to crack when the "boom" has rolled to earth under peculiar circumstances. There was one case where every window on Main Street in a western town shattered. Since high altitude normally prevents the sonic boom from reaching the ground, our armed force flyers are instructed to fly above minimum altitudes, but when atmospheric conditions are abnormal the sound may still reach the ground. But it will never do as much harm as the "boom" from a tire blowout or from the crash by poor brakes or a dangerous car. Let us provide the remedies, or new car that should preclude your hearing that perhaps fatal "boom". Kammler Buick-Pontiac Co. Route 206, opposite Princeton Airport, WA 1-2222.

Thoughts on Housing.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

A community which is too proud to house its poor, too heartless to house its aged, and too short-sighted to house its young has lost both its soul and its sense. After 40 years in Princeton, I have too much respect for the innate wisdom of this community to expect it to indulge in this form of moral and economic suicide.

J. DOUGLAS BROWN
73 Nassau Street

To Set the Record Straight.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Unfortunately, some of the reports in the press (other than yours) concerning the Housing Authority's application before the Zoning Board for a variance to develop 30 untils of low-rent housing for the elderly have given the impression that the board rejected the proposal.

Actually, as Town Topics accurately reported, the Zoning Board did not rule on it at all, feeling that it did not have jurisdiction to decide the case one way or the other. The variance requested was a minor one and in no way violated the spirit of the zoning ordinance since the housing project envisioned would result in lower population density and less land coverage than now permitted in that area under present zoning.

The Authority is in a peculiar position because it cannot receive the necessary loan of Federal funds in order to acquire property or prepare plot plans until it has the endorsement of the local governing body and assurances that variances, if necessary, will be granted by the Zoning Board. The Authority therefore hopes for informal approval from the Zoning Board.

It would then have requested the endorsement of the Mayor and Council as further assurance to the Public Housing Administration that its proposals were backed by the community. Funds would then be released, and the normal steps would have been taken to make it possible for the Authority to appear again before the Zoning Board with the requisite legal interest in the property and site plans for the project.

The Authorty will appear before the next meeting of the Mayor and Council on June 11 to request their endorsement of the proposal as required by the Public Housing Administration. This practice has been followed in the past here in Princeton and the development of public housing has had unbroken bi-partisan support ever since 1946.

If the governing body endorses the proposals the Authority has been assured it will receive the funds necessary to comply with the requirements of the Zoning Board and the procedure outlined above will be followed.

The Housing Authority of Princeton serves the community. Accordingly, different times and needs result in different solutions to the housing problems of Princeton's lower income groups ranging from the early development of emmergency Veterans Housing, to low-income housing, and now to providing housing for those retired teachers, administrative and maintenance personnel, as well as local Borough employees, who will have diffiently finding suitable housing in Princeton on reduced incomes.

The Authority seeks to keep the public informed of its plans, for only then can it receive the support of the community, which it feels is essential if it is to accomplish the purpose for which it was created.

GLORIA H. MICHAEL
Executive Director

Van De Velde Supported.

To The Editor of Town Topics:

There is a need in Princeton, and an opportunity to start meeting it. Mr. Van De Vele's inspired letter to TOWN TOPICS last week stated the case for low-cost public housing in Princeton and put the choices clearly before us.

The world is on fire with a passion for justice. Princeton can do better than to sit mindlessly by, or to expend its energies in rear-guard, delaying tactics.

We can put aside our political prejudices and bring a measure of justice and compassion for all; we can expose the vile whisperings with enlightened good will; we can recognize the fear, bigotry, ignorance, and deliberate dishonesty of vested interest for what they are; and we can, maybe once, identify ourselves with a humanity beyond ourselves.

One may ask by what "right" a Township resident expresses himself on an issue before the Borough, but I submit that the two Princetons are in reality but one community (my own neighborhood is only a half mile from the proposed housing site), within one country — within one world! What happens in one place touches every other. And to provide 30 units of low-cost housing for the elderly of a community is to take a step (albeit but one) in the direction of equity for all.

(Mrs.) INGRID OLSON ROSE
92 Clover Lane

The Day the Dinky Died.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Is there any truth to the rumor that the Pennsylvania Railroad would like to discontinue the service on the PJ & B.? If so, a tentative first step in that direction was taken on Memorial Day at 4.40 P.M. Passengers bound for Princeton on the 3:35 train out of New York were transported as far as Princeton Junction, and no farther.

A word of thanks is due to a gentleman from Hudge Road who transported five stranded passengers (there were at least ten) to several points in Princeton. A word is also due to the local division of the "Pennsy": quit while you're ahead is my suggestion.

The enclosed ticket? Perhaps it could be a small start toward a PJ & B retirement fund.

Why do I write your newspaper? Memory plays tricks for one thing. Besides, you don't get news every day about something that didn't happen.

Yours for happy motoring.

Pastors Favor Housing Project.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

Nine pastors of Princeton Churches signed a letter in favor of the current proposal for 30 units of Public Housing for the elderly on North Harrison St. and presented the letter to the Zoning Board at its meeting on May 23.

Since this letter was not mentioned at the hearing before the Zoning Board on that date and has not been previously released for publication, I want to make the stand of these ministers known to TOWN TOPICS' readers.

The letter read as follows:

Dear Sirs:

As nine pastors of Princechurches, we have many elderly people under our care. Some of these elderly people known to us cannot afford adequate housing in Princeton today. Others occupy housing that was not built specifically for the elderly and suffer hardships for this reason.

We believe that low-income housing for the elderly is presently needed in the Borough of Princeton. We have confidence in the judgment of the members of the Princeton Housing Authority and in the soundness of the proposal now before you to erect 30 units of Public Housing for the elderly on North Harrison Street. We urge you to vote favorably on this plan.

Sincerely yours,

Richard Luecke
David McAlpin Jr.
Olin D. McGowan
Charles Marker
Donald M. Meisel
Robert J. Spears Jr.

In view of the deadline facing the Housing Authority and of the forthcoming meeting of the Borough Mayor and Council on the question, the public stand of such a large number of the clergymen of this town is a matter of significance.

Dr. Donald Meisel, President of the Princeton Pastors' Association, has called a meeting of the association for this Friday at 4 p.m., at the First Presbyterian Church, for the purpose of considering and acting upon this vital public question.

I stress the importance of this issue because it affects the present and future welfare of many Princeton citizens. It must be decided on the basis of the public interest of the whole Princeton community and not on the basis of legal technicalities or the special interest of individuals or small groups.

Help the "Cold Noses."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Sanctuary, a refuge for homeless dogs on an old hill-farm, comes again with asking hand. I, who am the staff, take new courage as spring comes over the land.

First, I would thank all who have helped in the years just past. I would like you to know how responsible I feel in the use of the things you have sent and how much comfort they have given.

We need food (of any sort), old blankets (or pieces), old sheets and towels. Just about anything can find a place here and will be used with care and appreciation.

Cold noses and warm hearts remember!

Sons of the Prophets
Leaders in Protestantism from Princeton Seminary

Edited by Hugh T. Kerr

In this volume celebrating the Seminary's sesquicentennial anniversary, the contributors have brought together men who are both typical and atypical of its theological teaching—men who in various ways represent the many facets of the Seminary's distinguished history. Each, in a unique and interesting way, has left his mark upon the history of the institution. For 150 years, the continuing influence of the Seminary has been reflected in the distinction of the individuals who have been associated with it. 275 pages, $5.00

Tuesday night will not be a hearing, in a legal sense, opponents of the project will be given an opportunity to speak, Mayor Patterson added.

And . . . . the Hospital. An informal clarification meeting was held Monday between Mayor and Councilmen on the one hand and Princeton Hospital trustees on the other, in preparation for the trustees' formal appearance Tuesday before Council.

At this meeting, the trustees told Council that they planned only a 325-445 bed hospital, not the 600-bed institution that scared off Councilmen at the last meeting.

Trustees want approval for their "J" building, which will be 10 stories high when it is completely rounded out. This building and the so-called "A" building, which is the newest part of the present hospital, together will have 325 beds.

The "H" building, now containing 120 beds, is the oldest part of the hospital, and will be about 50 years old when "J" is finished. Presumably the state's department of institutions and agencies will discourage the use of "H." The hospital could use it for offices, or perhaps tear it down, but the fate of "H" is, in no sense, a part of the hospital's current presentation, the trustees assured Mayor Patterson.

NEW DOCTOR NAMED: Dr. Percy L. Smith of Trenton (center) has been named chairman of the Medical Advisory Committee of the Planned Parenthood Association of the Mercer Area. With Mrs. Russell A. Fraser (left), director of the association's clinic at 202 Academy Street, Trenton, and Mrs. John Davies, president of the association, Dr. Smith studies the charts of patients who attend the clinic seeking information on birth control and family planning.

NEW OFFICERS INSTALLED

By Plainsboro P.T.A. New officers have been installed by the Plainsboro Parent-Teacher Association. They are: Ray Smith, president; Rudy B Willnitz, vice-president; Mrs Theodore Weeks, treasurer, and Mrs. Beatrice Stalcup, secretary.

They took office at a meeting held as part of the community's role in the New Jersey State Tercentenary. Classrooms from the school dramatized some of the historical events of Plainsboro and the state. A report was also made on the number of research centers that have developed in the area.

$550,000 SUBSCRIBED

To Augment Schools Fund. Princeton Country Day Schools Building Fund has been increased by $550,000 subscribed since January of the year, according to Amos Eno, chairman of the schools' development program. Mr. Eno added: "This progress is encouraging to the trustees, who are planning to break ground this year. It will enable us to complete the merging of Miss Fine's and Princeton Country Day Schools on our new campus by 1965."

"Our goal is an ambitious one," he stated, "approaching $4 million in all, but we are now confident of success. Total gifts and pledges, saleable assets and other reserves now exceed $2,700,000. We still need additional financing of approximately $1,200,000, but aggressive plans have been made to obtain it."

Thomas B. Hartmann, newly-appointed principal of the schools, will move to Princeton by mid-summer. He will live in "Colross," the Georgian residence built in 1799 in Alexandria, Va., and moved in 1929 to Princeton to the new school site on The Great Road. The school business offices will be housed in one wing of the building.

Announcement has also been made of the fact that the school architects are nearing completion of the new plans, which are said to be particularly effective in their flexibility and use of space. As a result of careful study of each school's curriculum and scheduling, costs are being held to a minimum.

In discussing the development of the fund further, Mr. Eno said that, although there are still members of the school "family" who have not yet been reached by personal solicitation, a program to start in the fall will give everyone the opportunity of supporting the drive. This program will include opportunities for commemoratives and memorials, both large and small.

STOKOWSKI HONORED

By Westminster College. Leopold Stokowski, the noted conductor, was presented with an honorary doctor of fine arts degree at last week's commencement exercises of Westminster Choir College.

Dr. Lee H. Bristol Jr., president of Westminster, presented the degree and called Mr. Stokowski the "dean of American conductors." Dr. Bristol said: "You have touched our nation's cultural life at many points."

In accepting the degree, Mr. Stokowski expressed the hope

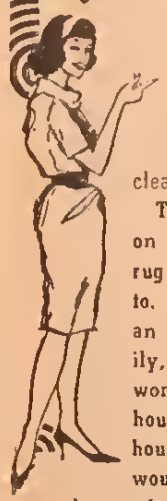
YOUR CARPET QUESTIONS



How often should a carpet be cleaned?

This depends on the use the rug is subjected to. Speaking for an average family, where the woman of the house is a good housekeeper, it would probably need a professional cleaning about every two or three years to prolong the life of the carpet.

14 APARTMENTS ENTERED Cash and Jewels Taken. Cash and assorted pieces of jewelry with a total estimated value of $2000 were stolen last Tuesday, May 28, from three apartments at 44 Palmer Square and from eight others located in the Prospect Apartment building, 120 Prospect Avenue. Chief of Police Peter J. McCrohan of the Borough reported there was evidence that three other Prospect apartments had been entered but nothing was taken from them.

All of the apartments were entered sometime between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. According to Chief McCrohan, all are occupied by working women who live alone. In each case, the lock was forced with a screwdriver or the latch forced back by a narrow piece of plastic or similar instrument.

The police have questioned janitors, deliverymen and possible suspects, Chief McCrohan continued. So far, his department has not been able to report progress. Detectives Robert McAvenia and Arthur Gallant are continuing the investigation.

Police urge all apartment dwellers who have double lock type doors to use them. Each of the apartments entered last week had this type of lock but in each case the occupant had not used her key to throw the bolt. Security measures, particularly at the Prospect Apartments, are very poor, said McCrohan. He added that the Prospect Apartments were "hit" the same way last May.

TEENS WANTED

To Help Migrants. A project to recruit teen-age boys and girls as summer recreation aides at the school for migrant children in Cranbury will be launched next Wednesday when a "recruiting meeting" is held at the YM-YWCA on Avalon Place. The meeting will be held at 7:45 p.m. All boys and girls, 9th through 12th grades, are invited to attend.

The plan has been launched by Mrs. Richard Colman and Mrs. Kees Bol, and has the backing of the New Jersey State Department of Education and the Bureau of Migrant Labor. At the meeting, Thomas H. Bogia, director of migrant schools for the state, and Charles Yersak, chief of the Bureau of Migrant Labor, will show the film "Harvest of Shame," and Mrs. Colman and Mrs. Bol will outline their program.

Plans call for a group of boys and girls, hopefully both Negro and white, to assist teachers at the Cranbury school in playground activities, songs, games and crafts. Mrs. Bol, a former professional camp director, will train the young volunteers.

The school opens around mid-July, the exact date depending on the crops, and lasts for six weeks. Those who are unable to attend the meeting may volunteer by calling Mrs. Colman at WA 4-0718 or Mrs. Bol at Hopewell 6-0809.

GREAT ROAD CLOSED? County to Widen Bridge. The possibility that The Great Road might be closed during the month of July sent an alarmed Township Committee to Frank Quinby, Township engineer, urging him to ask the county to be a little more flexible in its timetable for widening the bridge just north of Mountain Avenue.

Acting Mayor Maurice F. Healy, Jr., suggested to Mr. Quinby that the county might confer with contractors building Stuart Country Day School, on up The Great Road, to see when the lightest period of construction traffic would be, and to build their bridges accordingly.

Committee named John D. Wallace to the Township Planning Board replacing T. B. Fisher, and Fred Schluter to the Zoning Board replacing Leonard Johnson. Mr. Wallace will serve until June, 1967, Mr. Schluter to the end of 1964.

The committee also approved the renewal of all liquor licenses in the township except for two. Renewal was denied the Elks' Club on complaint by the Alcoholic Beverage Countrol for alleged in-

Acid Still Missing

A six-ounce wax bottle containing one of the most powerful acids produced has not yet been returned to the Princeton University Biology Department where it was stolen last week.

A spokesman for the Department reported that the old-fashioned looking bottle, four to five inches high and one to two inches in diameter, contains concentrated hydrofluoric acid. Commercially, it is used to etch glass.

"So powerful is the acid, the spokesman said, that even its fumes can cause irreparable damage to the lungs and eyes. If the acid were to get on a person's hands, it would cause permanent scars, he warned.

The words "hydrofluoric acid" are marked on the bottle.

ADMISSION RULES EASED

For Teachers' Children. The Borough Board of Education has relaxed its admission policy slightly to benefit the children of non-resident teachers and board employees. The action was taken at the May meeting.

Children of non-resident teachers on contract may attend the high school and the elementary schools; children of non-resident employees may attend only the elementary schools.

As a courtesy, the board will also admit to the elementary schools the children of non-resident teachers employed by the private elementary schools in the Borough.

sau Estates, has been named temporary chairman of the organization.

At a recent meeting, the sponsors heard Leonard F. Newton and Henry Drewry of the Princeton Housing Group discuss how a community can meet inntegration and how the Princeton group has operated. In addition, the Lawrence residents themselves have agreed generally, although the group comprises many points of view, that "the tenor of the times as well as specific state statutes will make the maintenance of restricted housing areas untenable. Responsible residents should face the issue and discuss it openly."

The next meeting will be held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. John Marshall, Princeton Pike. Results of informal studies and more detailed professional studies will be presented in relation to the question of property values. All who are interested are invited to obtain additional information by writing to Lawrence Fair Housing Group, P. O. Box 5206, Trenton 8, N. J.

Those who have participated in the initial discussions are: the Rev. Thomas Armour, the Rev. Carl Bierman, the Rev. Alan Hagenbuch, the Rev. Norman Kindt; Dr. and Mrs. Aaronson; Herman Berenson, James Smith, Mrs. Gloria Sklansky, Mrs. Phyllis Clurman, Milton Rothman, Mrs. Mary Smith, Thomas Fawcett, Mr. and Mrs. Dexter Neadle, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Seidman, John Harrell, Mrs. Marilyn Durkin, Irving Klothen, Morgan Harris, Mrs. Frederica Biddle, Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Rowland, John Bowers, Mrs. John Marshall, Mrs. Joseph Blanc, U. R. Christensen, Mrs. Lawrence Houston, Jonathan Flaccus, Mrs. Caroline Moore-

this September, will be on a parent-paid basis.

Montgomery Appeals. John Van Zandt, president of the Montgomery Township Board of Education, appeared at the meeting to ask for a one or two-year extension on the 1965 cut-off point for their sending district relationship with the Borough. He stated that his school board had been unable to find another high school which would accept the Montgomery students.

In response to questioning from the Borough school board, he stated that there is a possibility that the students may be accepted by the Hillsborough district when its high school, now in a preliminary planning stage, is completed.

Montgomery Township will vote on June 28 on a bond issue to finance nearly doubled elementary school facilities of its own. The building will be filled to capacity by its completion date, the winter of 1964-65, according to Charles Allen, Montgomery school board member.

William K. Evans, acting president in behalf of Graham Rohrer who was in Spain, told Mr. Van Zandt, "The withdrawal of your group and Hopewell Borough will just keep us below breaking point in 1970." He and other members expressed sympathy with Montgomery Township's dilemma, but took no action, although agreeing to keep "open minds" on the subject.

Accompanying Mr. Van Zandt were Montgomery school board members Charles Grayson, Charles Allen, John Dixon and Mrs. Jean Pariso.

DR. TILLICH TO SPEAK

At Seminary Graduation. At a three - day commencement program starting this weekend Princeton Theological Seminary will bring to a climax the 14-month sesquicentennial celebration of its founding in 1812. Dr. Paul Tillich, noted University of Chicago theologian, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon at 11 on Sunday in the First Presbyterian Church.

Dr. Tillich, now in the process of finishing the third volume of his work titled "Systematic Theology," was formerly a faculty member of Union Seminary in New York and of Harvard Divinity School. His sermon topic for the baccalaureate is "Salvation."

Degrees will be awarded to 188 graduates, the largest number of diplomates in the seminary's history, at the 151st annual commencement exercises Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. in the University Chapel. Dr. James I. McCord, president of the seminary since 1959, will speak on "Retrospect and Prospect" at the ceremonies.

FIVE ARE FINED

In Borough Court. Five Princeton area motorists were fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr.

Three women were among those fined. They are Mrs. Marianna A. Cushlbaurr, 26, Lakeside Apartments, $15, following too closely; Mrs. Jane Gehrrly, 28, Berrian Avenue, Princeton Jnurlion, $16, speeding; and Mrs. Naury F. Swortzel, 32, 181 Laurel Road, $15, late inspertion. All pleaded guilty.

For parking in a prohibited area, Dwight E. Wilkinson, 18, 32 Shady Brook Lane, was fined $17. In addition, his driver's license was revokrd 15 days because police charged that he failed to rrport an accident in which he was involved and becanse it was necessary to tow his car away.

Martin Summerfield, 46, 964 Kingston Road, paid a $20 fine for carrless driving.

TO INSTALL OFFICERS

At Business Club Meeting. The Princeton Business and Professional Women's Club will install its offirers for the coming year at a meeting on Monday at 6:30 in the Nassau Inn.

Miss Charlotte B. McCrarken, seround vire-president of the New Jersey Federation of Women's Clubs, will preside over the ceremony. Miss McCracken is the New Jersey representative to the organization's national legislative platform committee.

Princeton officers who will participate in the ceremony include Mrs. Helen Kraus, president; Mrs. Estelle Seymour, first vice-president; Mrs. Anne P. Dennen, second vice-president; Mrs. Nina Harrison, treasurer; Mrs. Esther Stalker, recording secretary; and Mrs. Helen Kleiber, corresponding secretary.

UNDEGRADUATE CARS?

Okay 8 Miles Outside Town. On July 1, 1927, after a college year marked by a series of auto accidents involving Princeton undergraduates, the "no-car" rule was put into effect by the University. Starting next fall with the opening of college, the "no-car" regulation will be modified to the point of allowing undergraduates to have cars outside an eight-mile radius of the University, a substantial reduction from the 35-mile radius which is currently in effect.

But, while distance will be relaxed, enforcement procedures will be increased, says Dean of Students William D'O. Lippincott. The University has been assured of the cooperation of municipal authorities in barring student use of cars within the eight-mile zone, and students maintaining automobiles in New Jersey (except for those whose homes are in the state) will be required to register the fact with the dean.

Undergraduates whose cars are subject to the new ruling will be required to display identification on their vehicles under regulations to be issued by the dean's office. Also, any violation of the regulation will result in "the stringent penalties of dismissal now customary for those few who have been found guilty of using cars without permission in the currently prohibited area," says the University's statement on the subject.

Approval of the reduction to the eight-mile limit was given by the University Trustees committee on student life, based on a request made by the undergraduate council last January. According to a University spokesman, it might not be amiss to mention that the rules governing undergraduate use of cars apply equally to the use of motorcycles and motor scooters. Muscle-powered bicycles are obviously exempt.

One other proposal presented by the undegraduate council to the trustees' committee was a request for changes in the regulations governing chapel or church attendance by freshmen. It was the decision of the trustees that no change in these requirements would be made and that freshmen would therefore continue to attend services either in the University Chapel or other churches one-half of the Sundays in each term.

GRADUATION SCHEDULED

At Miss Fine's School. Mrs. Millicent C. McIntosh, president emeritus of Barnard College, will address the graduating class at Miss Fine's School at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Mrs. McIntosh has just accepted an appointment from Governor Richard J. Hughes to serve on a committee which will study higher education in New Jersey.

LIKE TO DUNK YOUR CHEESECAKE? Britteen McNamee, sophomore at Princeton High School, will be a dunkee at the Princeton Hospital Fete's "Girl Dunk" on the Men's Midway. Toss a baseball at the small target. If you hit it, you set in motion an incredible space-flight mechanism which will eventually dunk Miss McNamee (or her stand-in) into a tub of water. Things are wired so that the ball cannot hit the girl. And don't worry about Miss McN; she can swim.

HOUSING IS DISCUSSED

In Teachers' Statement. Members of the Princeton Borough Teachers' Association have received copies of the convenant of open occupancy in housing This step was taken by the association's executive committee following disenssion of the Princeton Housing Group's advertisement in late April, titled "Equal Opportunity in Housing." At that time, over 400 families had signed the covenant.

The committee expressed its "concern for equal opportunity in housing and recommended that each member of the Association give full and careful consideration to the matter" Members have been requested "to consider the convenant and take such action as their consciences dictate."

The convenant states, in part, that "discrimination in housing opportunities is inconsistent with the principles of a free society, and that every person of good character, regardless of race, religion or national origin, has the right to rent, buy or build a home which he can afford in our community."

WHY IS DAD GREATEST?

A Car for the Answer. Bamberger's department store of Princeton is particpating in a Father's Day contest involving eight outlets of the New Jersey chain.

The grand prize will be a Tempest Le Mans convertible and each store will offer a wardrobe to the best area entry. To enter the contest, participants are required to complete in 50 wrods or less the phrase "My dad's the greatest because . . . "

Entry blanks may be obtained at the Princeton store and must be submitted by Wednesday, June 12. The judge of the contest will be Tony Bennett, Columbia Records recording star.

The wardrobe awards, which will include casual and sports clothing for fathers, are valued at nearly $250 a piece. Entry blanks may be deposited at Bamberger's Princeton.

DIRECTORIES IN MAIL

From Bell Telephone. Sperial directory supplements were mailed this week to Bell Telephone customers in Hopewell and Pennington, whose telephones will be converted from manual to dial operation next month The directory, sent to over 6500 subscribers, contains 4900 alphabetical listings.

The regular Suburban Trenton directory should be used for other numbers in the area

At the time of conversion to dial, the All-Number Calling system will replace the two-letter, five-numeral combination. Thus, HO 6- will become 166, and PE 7-, 737.

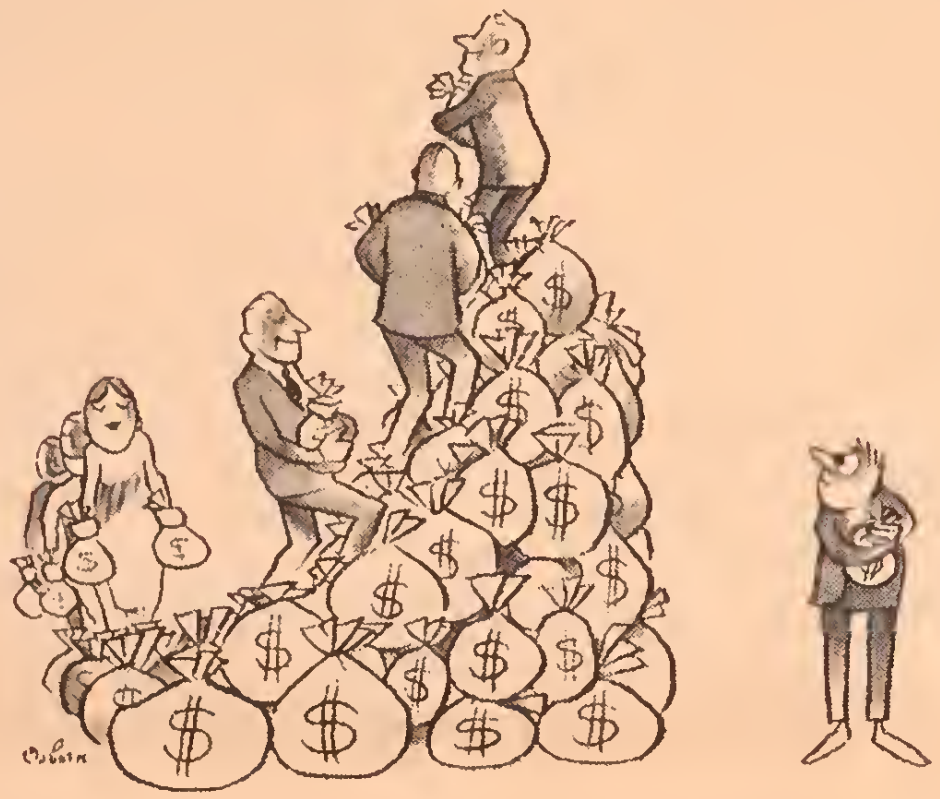
Why do more people save at Full Service Commercial Banks than anywhere else?



Because it helps them build their financial future. Read how.

Most people choose one of three places for their savings: A savings and loan association, a mutual savings bank, or a Full Service commercial bank. The first two may pay a little higher return on savings but they are engaged mostly in making home loans. A Full Service commercial bank (which sometimes pays a little less on savings) can offer loans and other services no other institution can duplicate. Despite the difference in interest on savings, Full Service commercial banks are America's most popular place to save. Remember too, there is no safer place for your money than our Full Service commercial bank.

People with plans prefer a Full Service commercial bank.

If you're established with a Full Service commercial bank (like ours), you can borrow money at low bank rates to buy or remodel a home, buy a car, take a trip, or for just about any other good reason. And you get our professional advice as a "financial partner."

How to get a Full Service commercial bank (like ours) in your corner.

1. Do all your banking business with us—checking and savings.

2. Get to know one or more of our officers so that you know where you stand financially right now. He may suggest that you fill out a Personal Financial Statement for our file. (It's easy to do and confidential.)

3. Use one of our low cost loans when you need extra money. Pay it back as promised—and you're earning a good credit reputation.

If you haven't already chosen a Full Service commercial bank as your "financial partner" it isn't too early to start right now. Stop in today.

ART
In Princeton

PHOTOGRAPHS ON VIEW

At Gallery 100. Photography is not always considered a creative art, but it may become a true art form when handled by someone like Ulli Steltzer whose prime consideration is artistic expression, whose talent is to discern real life and to convey its vitality and meaning through her camera techniques. To compose a subject to catch the distinct quality of its own and to make a picture of it requires understanding of the subject as well as of the medium.

At Gallery 100, there is on exhibit a group of photographs from Mrs. Steltzer's own collection. Most of them are portrait studies in a roster of noted and unnoted figures, familiar faces around town, children and casual subjects from here and abroad in every walk of life.

All of them have one thing in common, "the life in them," which is what intrigues her to photograph them. "I took these pictures because I couldn't help it!" She is not concerned with the superficial image but in what makes people tick, and certainly these people on the walls of the Gallery 100 tell you who and what they are.

"The Life in Them." Children are fascinating to photograph because, unlike grown-ups, they are at once intense and relaxed, she feels. Tancredi, a small bewitching Italian child, is a favorite model, for he becomes a part of everything he does.

He is serious and direct in a full-face portrait; he is the epitomy of pure delight in another as he runs among the pigeons in an Italian piazza. "He flies too . . . he is a pigeon." It is pure delight for all.

In older people, Ulli Steltzer looks "for the essence of life in some, in others what life is left in them." A whole lot, for instance, in the old Tyrolian whom she noticed in a funeral procession and later visited to photograph many times. His eyes in a wrinkled face are younger than ours. Interest in life has kept him active and spirited, a fine character for study.

Bruno Walter, conducting at the Choir College, seems to hold music in his hands. A shy French boy in Grenoble, hiding behind a wall is just curious enough to peer out with round unblinking eyes.

More Than Meets the Eye. "You wait to photograph some things, for they must grow inside before you can do it with the camera." A photograph of a colonnade in Munich is one which took time to find the right effect of light and shadow for its striking design, even longer to find the right accent which came one day as two pigeons alighted in the foreground to give scale and meaning to the whole.

Olive trees have been a favorite study over the years as Mrs. Steltzer searched for the perfect one to express her composite feeling. "Olive Tree" is a complete idea, as lovely an olive as is to be found in Italy or Greece, but with the sensitivity which is so inherent in this work, the tree is not alone. It is photographed "with sisters and brothers" where it belongs. Although in black and white, you can feel the color and tremor of the silvery leaves.

As with any real artist, she knows the capacities and basic techniques of her tools, but her special gift comes from her warm understanding of humanity and her desire to find and express the distinction and life of each subject. The eye of the camera is quick, but it is hardly as sensitive as the eye of Ulli Steltzer.

A CASE OF "CRUSHING PEARLS"

Misunderstanding Christ on Church Membership

The word "church" has come to mean many things to many people. With more than 250 different denominational churches professing to follow Christ, it is easy to see how such vastly different concepts of the church have emerged.

These misconceptions have, in turn, produced misunderstanding about church membership.

Church membership to the individual in the first century consisted simply of being a faithful Christian. Christians in a given community made up the church.

In our age many think of church membership in terms of their denominational affiliation. In the first century, however, Christians belonged to no denomination because there was none.

Church membership to other people suggests their official responsibilities in a religious organization, bringing to mind their formal connection with some ecclesiastic body. Yet in New Testament times there was no organizational superstructure or ecclesiastic hierarchy of any kind.

In the first century every Christian in the very process of his conversion became a member of the church. In contrast, many today think of conversion as one matter, and "joining" the church as quite another.

Inasmuch as all of the saved made up the church in the first century, early Christians had no difficulty understanding the relationship between church membership and salvation. Today some deeply resent the implication that church membership has anything to do with one's salvation.

All of these misconceptions of the church and church membership constitute a clear case of "crushing pearls" — a description given by Christ of those incapable of comprehending certain spiritual truths (Matthew 7:6).

To be saved a person must be redeemed by the blood of Christ (1 Peter 1:18,19). A person redeemed by the blood of Christ belongs to Christ. All belonging to Christ are in His church.

The church is also described as the kingdom or spiritual body of Christ. Since Christ is the saviour of His spiritual body, the king over His kingdom, and head over His church—one must be in His spiritual body, His kingdom, or His church in order to be saved. This is an inescapable conclusion if the language of the New Testament is respected.

PROF. BELLER TO RETIRE

From University Faculty. Elmer A Beller, associate professor of history at Princeton University, will retire June 30 after 39 years on the faculty. His special field is Europe during the 17th and 18th centuries. During the second semester next year, he will give a course at Westminster Choir College in general European history from the Reformation to the present

Following graduation from Cornell University in 1916, Prof Beller served in France during World War I in the medical corps and studied at the University of Poitiers under an army program. He received his D Phil. degree in 1923 from Oxford University, and joined the Princeton faculty in 1924, following a year teaching at Harvard.

Among his publications are "Caricatures of the 'Winter King' of Bohemia" "Propaganda in Germany During the Thirty Years' War," and "Selections from Bayle's Dictionary," edited with Maurice duP Lee Jr His course at Princeton emphasized the growth of the modern state, the new scientific movement, and the critical writings leading up to revolution.

Topics Of The Town

Hightstown Road In effect, the present bathox - shaped space vehicle will be turned on its side and made to roll endlessly through the sky, photographing 500,000 square miles of earth and cloud cover every 30 seconds.

By being launched in a polar orbit, the new Tiros will photograph every area of the world at least once a day after it goes into operation by early next year. Each picture will be stored on magnetic tape and can be "read out" on command when the satellite comes within range of a ground station

Six Tiros satellites have been designed and built here in RCA's laboratories of its astro-electronics division and have been launched and have operated successfully in a nearly circular orbit approximately 400 miles above the earth.

Tiros 5 stopped functioning this past week after 320 days in orbit and the transmission of 58,000 weather pictures, 85 per cent of which were usable. While NASA's specifications call for any one satellite to operate for only 90 days, each Tiros has exceeded this by a wide margin

Tiros 6, showing the same electronic longevity as its "ancestors," is still taking photographs after 253 days in orbit and 53,000 pictures of the world's weather. Tiros G — the number "7" does not become its official designation until it is in orbit — is ready to be launched in the next few days. "Its purpose," according to an RCA spokesman, "is, among other things, to cover the development and course of hurricanes this summer."

Tiros gets its name from the abbreviation for "television and infra-red observation satellite" and is intended to be an orbital weatherman for all of the world. The eighth in the series will have, in addition to the TV system, an automatic picture-taking device (APT).

APT is designed in such a way that it will take up to three pictures at any point along the satellite's path. These photographs will be of weather in a 1000-square-mile area around a receiving station.

Weather pictures from the APT system would be reproduced on a facsimile machine converting signals from the satellite, and a comparatively simple ground receiver would be used. It is hoped that the $30,000 to $40,000 station cost will make APT reception financially possible for many new and underdevolped nations.

At the outset, however, not more than about six ground installations are expected to participate, most of them in the United States. Additional receiving stations will be installed as need and demand for them arise.

John P. Moran of 3 College Road has been appointed by Princeton University to the newly created position of director of the division of physical planning in the office of the business manager. Mr. Moran has been a staff member of the University's department of grounds and buildings since 1959.

In his new position, Mr. Moran will help develop plans for proposed buildings and will serve as a liaison with governmental agencies in zoning and planning matters. Mr. Moran has worked as a designer with an architectural firm and served as assistant to Princeton's superintendent of grounds and buildings.

"JIMMY" RETIRES

Ran Store 37 Years. Cows, pigs and chickens lived in the back yard of Chestnut Street and there were no lights on Nassau Street in that part of town when Jimmy Kovalakides opened his store on March 15, 1926.

You know the store: it's the one at 242 Nassau where you pick up a Sunday paper and a loaf of bread, the store your kids stop at on the way home from school to buy bubblegum or some of that penny candy that looks just the way it did when you stopped at Jimmy's yourself after school.

Jimmy has retired. He has sold the store to Edward Boccanfuso and Angie Cifelli, and from now on he will take it easy.

He deserves his retirement. For 37 years, he kept his store open seven days a week, always for at least 12 hours a day (6 a.m. to 6 p.m.) and in the beginning, for 16 hours a day. In 37 years, he had one vacation, a four-day holiday that ended in an uproar when he returned to find that his store had been badly mis-managed in his absence.

"Never again," Jimmy says, and shakes his head.

"What I've Seen . . ." A taciturn man with a sad, lined face, Jimmy is a scarred survivor of the Balkan wars that tore eastern Europe in the years before World War I.

Born in that limbo land on the border of Turkey and Greece, Jimmy lived as a boy in both countries and in Bulgaria as well, without ever really leaving home. As each victorious army washed across his village, Jimmy's nationality changed, and as each army came, he learned the language of the conqueror until he was fluent in Turkish, Greek, Bulgarian and, after a trip across the Adriatic, Italian.

When he was only 14, Jimmy had a store and a partner in Turkey. Then war broke out — or rather, intensified, because it had never really stopped. For eight months, the young boy lived under the Turkish guns besieging Adrianople, sleeping at night on a narrow board in a far corner of his store because to sleep in the center of the room would be to invite a spray of bullets.

Every midnight, the bombing and the shrapnel would begin. The people of Adrianople were starving, but Jimmy and his partner had a small store of wheat. After darkness fell, the boy would slip out of the store with a lump of raw dough which he had wrapped in a burlap sack and slung over his shoulder for disguise.

"Secretly Baked." He made his way to a bakery. There a friend secretly baked the dough that Jimmy had made. Then, tucking the fresh, hot loaf under his arm, Jimmy would run as fast as he could back to the store, followed by starving men and women drawn by the scent of the freshly-baked loaf.

"I would give a slice to some man," Jimmy recalls "and he would fall on his knees in front of me and begin to pray."

With the wheat they had in the store, Jimmy and his partner fed two families of seven people all during that eight-month siege, and when it was over, there were only 24 pounds of flour left.

And in Princeton, during the past 37 years, there were some families who had to go without bread for a whole day if they got to Jimmy's after he had closed . . . .

A New Start. Weary with war, although still young and full of spirit, Jimmy came to Princeton in 1916. His brother was here, and there was a chance for a new life.

At first, Jimmy and a partner had a store on the corner of Witherspoon and Spring, where the Colonial restaurant now is. There was a soda fountain and a grill for hot dogs, and groceries to buy. But Jimmy's ideas of industry and diligence and long hours did not always go down well with partners, and finally, in 1926, Jimmy moved to Nassau Street.

Actually, he built the brick building at 242, with the store downstairs and a pleasant apartment for his family upstairs.

Married in 1925, Jimmy is now four times a grandfather, including twins. Princeton residents know his son, Nick, as one of the outstanding athletes of Princeton High School in the '50's. Now in the Marines, 23-year-old Nick is considered Olympic material in the javelin throw, although he is a front rank shotput and discus man as well.

Jimmy is an eager spectator sportsman, and in the days when his children were at home to help out in the store, he never missed a football game in Palmer Stadium. He managed to cover quite a few baseball games, too, and now that he has retired, he plans to go back to spectator sports.

Ill for much of the spring, Jimmy is gaining in health with each day, and he plans this summer to go back, for the first time, to "the old country" — to Salonika, where two brothers still live. Jimmy lost his mother, sister and three other brothers in World War I.

"I suffered before, and I saw people starving to death, but the Lord has been good to me. If I sit down and think what I have seen . . ." Jimmy shakes his head and is silent.

CANDY FOR A PENNY . . . OR A NICKEL: Two generations of school children have bounced into Jimmy's for something to sustain them after school, and their parents have stopped by for lettuce, cold cuts and ice-cream. Now the store at 242 Nassau Street has been sold, and Jimmy will retire, but the neighborhood will not lose, because Jimmy Kovalakides will still live in the apartment over "his" store. The story of this Princeton businessman appears on this page.

TO ISSUE FORMS

For Property Information. The State Department of the Treasury will issue to New Jersey businessmen next week an informational return form for the listing of tangible personal property used in business.

The forms are being mailed to all owners of tangible personal property used in business who appear on the tax rolls of every New Jersey municipality. Law requires that the forms be filed by August 1 with the State Division of Taxation.

John A. Kervick, State Treasurer, noted that the forms, authorized by the Legislature, are confidential and will be used for statistical purposes only. The returns will be not used as a basis for tax assessment, he said.

William Kingsley, director of the division of taxation, said that the form is aimed at supplying statistics to determine the effectiveness of Chapter 51 on property tax standards. Chapter 51 was adopted by the Legislature in 1960 to provide a workable way to assess personal property based on book values as reflected in the taxpayers' books of accounts.

Governor Hughes said the form "seems to me to be the most sensible way of helping the Legislature to make a fair and workable law."

JUST AFTER THE OPENING GUN: Part of the 20-boat fleet of 14-foot "General Purpose" Class sloops which competed in the first race of the Middle Atlantic States G. P. Association season for that class. The regatta, first of seven scheduled for the year, was held on Lake Carnegie Saturday afternoon. Light but variable winds required skillful sailing in the race, won by James Gray of Bristol, Pa. The contest was held under the auspices of the Carnegie Sailing Club as host. Picture shows Carnegie club official Walter B. REGATTA HELD HERE

For 14-Foot Sloops. Twenty 14-foot General Purpose sloops of the Middle Atlantic Association competed in a five-race regatta Saturday at Lake Carnegie. The host group was the Carnegie Sailing Club.

James Gray of Bristol, Pa., captured first place, with the second prize going to David Miller of Philadelphia and Richard Beehtel, also of Philadelphia, finishing third. The regatta marked the first of seven that the association plans to hold this season.

Members of the host club who participated were F.W. Goetz and J.J. Lawson, both of Princeton, and C.M. Vanderwoort of Bedminister. Family day cruises in Barnegat Bay are also planned by the association.

Officials for the regatta were Walter Foster Jr., Chester Stroup and Walter Gibson.

MILLER WINS SAILING

With Two First Places. Ability to finish first twice in the five-race Penguin regatta gave Dexter Miller victory in the program staged on Memorial Day by the Carnegie Sailing Club. Tim Miller was his crew as they compiled a total of 30.7 points.

Bob Wilson, who won one of the other races, was runner-up with 27.1. Other totals: Phil Holt (one first), 25.3; Dick Grace (one first), 21.0; Harry Cooke, 20.4; Tom Huntington, 14.0; and Walt Foster, 7.0.

NO-HITTER RECORDED

As Penn State Wins. A solid no-hit game was the foundation on which Penn State's baseball team paved its entrance into the NCAA finals at Omaha, Nebraska, next week. Rider College was a 3-0 victim of the Nittany Lions Friday on Clarke Field in the District II elimination round, the losers sending 29 men to the plate without producing any thing more than a loud foul.

Bob Fenton, squarely-built left-hander, tossed the near-perfect game, getting errorless support and allowing only three walks. One runner was erased on a double play, and only one reached second.

Fenton used a virtually upright overhand delivery in keeping Rider batters off balance throughout the well-played contest. His best pitch was a low, sharp-breaking curve; he had a fine change of pace and a slider, but no great speed.

Penn State did all its scoring in the sixth, following a walk with a long double and three singles. Its shutout was duplicated in the second game and another no-hitter almost recorded as St. John's easily defeated Temple, 7 to 0. The losers managed only a solid double off the combined efforts of two St. John's pitchers.

On Saturday, Penn State hit early and often to rip St. John's, 11 to 2, hammering out 15 assorted hits. It was 7-1 and no contest after only two innings.

TIGERS HEAD FOR YALE

Race Ends in Triple Tie. Aware that only a single victory in one of the four games it lost would have given it a share of the Eastern League crown, Princeton's baseball team heads for New Haven Saturday to play Yale. The Elis will also provide the opposition in the final game of the season on June 15 when the Alumni Parade is held.

In that connection, tradition may be shattered next year for the first time in decades. Yale and Harvard are scheduled to meet in baseball on Saturday, June 13, 1964, and who Princeton's opponent will be that day is currently a major mystery. Virtually no college teams other than the Big Three and those involved in the NCAA Tournament play that late in the season.

At West Point Saturday, Army took a 6-5 decision from Navy in 10 innings, thus dropping the defending champions to a triple tie for first place with Columbia and Dartmouth. All three completed their seasons with 6-3 marks. Princeton, at 5-4, needed a victory in only one more game after compiling an early 5-1 record to share in the title.

With the deadlock not an actuality until June 1, because Army and Navy refuse to meet earlier in the season as the Ivy colleges do, no opportunity for a playoff exists. The word is that the Ivy colleges would like to ask the service teams to withdraw, but don't know how to initiate the move.

PHS WINS TRACK FINALE

Heiberger Fifth at State. In its final week of activity, the Princeton High School track team performed much as expected.

Coach Jerry Groninger had not looked for his team to score in the annual state meet Saturday at Rutgers University stadium. He missed by one point as Pete Heiberger placed fifth in the finale of the low hurdles to earn the lone point registered by PHS. Earlier in the week, is the final dual meet of the season, the Little Tigers, as anticipated, romped over Hamilton, 97-20.

Jack Kelly, captain of field events for the Blue and White, and Art Brooks also reached the finals but each finished sixth. Kelly, a standout all year in the javelin, came close to his best effort of the year with a fine toss of 174'8". However, it was far short of the winning mark of 217 feet by Bennett of Franklin Park. This tremendous performance for a high school athlete broke the former record set in 1957 by Princeton High's renowned Nick Kovalakides.

Brooks' best broad jump was 20' 4" but it, too, was over-

PHS Names Captains

Captains in baseball and track for 1964 have been elected at Princeton High School.

In baseball, hard-hitting first baseman Jimmy Case has been chosen. A junior, Case will be starting his third year as a varsity player next spring.

As in the past, co-captains were named in track. Art Brooks will captain the running events and Jim Beachell the field events. Brooks competes in the dash and broad jump; Beachell in the javelin.

HIGH AND LOW: Bill Aiken (right) has consistently won the high hurdles as a member of the Princeton High School track team this season and Pete Heiberger has consistently won the low's. Only sophomores, each faces a fine track career, according to coach Jerry Groninger. (Staff Photo) shadowed. Times and distances recorded in the meet, Groninger reported, we're "terrific all down the line." One example of the remarkable achievements at New Brunswick was a 173-foot winning toss in the discus.

Considering he is only a sophomore, Heiberger deserves much credit for the way he paced himself through the drawn-out trials, semi-finals, and finals, Groniger reported. His form was good in all, he continued. Hieberger's time of 20.3 in the finals was his best ever.

Last Tuesday, PHS scored its one-sided victory over Hamilton for its third dual meet triumph against six defeats.

The losers earned 15 of their 20 points with first-place finishes in the 100, broad jump and pole vault.

Kowalski Top Scorer. John Kowalski led the Little Tigers with 13 points. The recently-named top athlete of the year won the shot put and the 220 and placed second in the 100 to score 13 points. According to Groninger, Kowalski scored a lot of points toward the end of the season and his performance in the Hamilton finale capped a fine year in the sport.

Kowalski's effort of 47' 10" in the shot was the best performance by PHS in the event all season. What makes it more remarkable is that Kowalski did not start competing in the shot until a few weeks ago. Although he is a senior, Kowalski is a year younger than most, having just turned 17.

Jim McKeever and Andrew Tully placed second and third in the shot to give PHS a sweep. McKeever's toss of 47' 5" represented his second best performance of the year, while Tully's 45' 2" distance was, like Kowalski's, his top effort.

The Blue and White also swept the quarter-mile, mile, discus and javelin. First-place winners in these events were Bruce Baxter, Jay Gallagher, Al Spencer and Jack Kelly. Bill Aiken and Heiberger finished one-two in the high and low hurdles, Aiken winning the highs and Heiberger taking the lows.

Looking back over the 1963 campaign, Groninger reported his team did just about as he expected. "Our best showing of the year," he said, "was probably at the Central Conference Meet at New Brunswick where we placed third in a field of 12." In that meet, PHS edged Somerville by one point, a team that had beaten the Little Tigers easily in a dual meet.

What about next year? "Right at this point, if we don't lose anybody, it looks pretty good," said Groninger. "I'd say we are a little bit ahead of where we were last year. Of course, even if we are improved the competition will be just as rough as ever," he continued. (Three opponents PHS meets every year — Trenton, Highland Park and New Brunswick — are perennial track powers. They are almost tantamount to three built-in defeats.)

Strong In Hurdles. Sophomores Aiken and Heiberger will be back next year and will give PHS a strong showing in the hurdles. Brooks, sophomore Bruce Tipi and freshman Allen Vomacka will compete in the quarter-mile. In the mile, veteran Jay Gallagher, only a sophomore but still a veteran, will head a list of runners comprised of Steven Feldman, Peter Martinson and Jack McKinney.

Carl Giese and Jay Breese will seek starting berths in the quarter-mile which Groninger reports will be wide open. He indicated some milers may be moved over to the quarter.

Those who will compete in the weight events include McKeever, Tully and freshman Anthony Arcaro. Field captain Jim Beachell and his brother, Craig, a sophomore, head the list of javelin throwers.

PHS VICTOR IN 12th

For Winning Season. Dave Shields singled home captain Ray Britton in the bottom of the 12th inning to give the Princeton High School baseball team a 2-1 victory over Hamilton here last week. It was the final game of the season for the Little Tigers and the victory enabled them to finish with a 10-9 record and a winning season for the first time in three years.

The three-and-one-quarter-hour marathon represented the first extra-inning contest for the Blue and White this season. It was its second one-run triumph in a row and it marked the first time that PHS had ever played as many as 19 games in a regular season. For pitcher Rick Vomacka, who hadn't won or lost a game until the team's 18th outing, it was his second victory in four days.

PHS scored first when it tallied an unearned run in the sixth inning. Shields got on by an error and advanced to second on another Hamilton misplay. Pitcher Tom Stemmle then followed with his fourth hit of the year to score Shields.

The visitors tied it in the next inning and almost won it in the ninth. With a Hamilton runner on second, shortstop Ken Ward bobbled a ball hit by Carl Smires. The baserunner dashed for home but Ward managed to recover in time to throw him out at the plate. Paul Walstad made the tag.

Rosso Starts. Veteran Jack Rosso (3-5) started for the home team and pitched the first five innings. He gave way to Stemmle who worked the next five frames. Rick Vomacka, the only member of the PHS mound staff who will not be lost by graduation, pitched the final two, getting credit for the win.

"Since it was the last game of the season, my pitchers knew they were in there to fire that ball just as hard as they could," said PHS coach Harry Zoll. "That's what they did and they got tired. I had Corvino all ready to go in and relieve Vomacka, if the game had gone to the 13th. As it turned out, I got everybody into the game but Corvino."

Looking ahead to 1964, Zoll predicted that Princeton High would be able to hold its own against a schedule which will be virtually the same as this year's. "We have a better start for next season than we had for this year," he said.

"Of course, we're going to miss Britton, Shields and Seulerati. And we're going to miss Rosso and Stemmle. They were all good players and they'll be hard to replace. But it still looks pretty good."

next year will be a good-hitting infield that will return with the exception of third baseman Tom Scuderati. Catching is set with the capable Walstad. Vomacka will be back as the team's front line hurler while Rich Giallella, a sophomore this spring, will add strength to the outfield.

Again, after another poor season, the jayvee team (4-11) does not hold out much promise of new faces for Zoll. But he reports he expects to get help from two freshmen. Chris Fischer has pitched well for the Class of '66 and may move up directly to the varsity. Lou Balestrieri has already appeared briefly in one varsity game. He may replace Scuderati at third.

KOWALSKI IS NAMED

As Top PHS Athlete. John Kowalski, son of Mrs. Helen Kowalski of 67 Randall Road, has been named Princeton High School's outstanding athlete for the year.

After attending another school in his junior year, Kowalski returned to Princeton High to cap an impressive athletic career, one that embraced three sports—football, basketball and track. As tailback in the Little Tiger backfield, he started off in spectacular fashion: he ran the opening kickoff of the opening game back 03 yards for a touchdown.

As a half-miler for track coach Jerry Groninger, Kowalski was a capable runner, but it was as a center on the basketball team that he was probably most outstanding. Starting slowly, Kowalski still managed to emerge as the team's second high scorer, hitting for an even 200 points in 18 games. But it was his outstanding rebounding, in which he led the team by a wide margin, that enabled PHS to post a fine 14-4 record.

His teammate and captain of the basketball team, Hank Schmidt, was named winner of the Jerry Cypress track award. Like Kowalski, Hank competed as a half-miler, although he started out as a miler. The Cypress award is presented annually to the senior who has contributed most to the sport.

Varsity baseball letters were presented by coach Harry Zoll to 13 players: Captain Ray Britton, Dave Shields, Tom Scuderati, Jack Rosso, Tom Stemmle, Dan Corvino, Jim Case, Dave Munn, Rick Vomacka, Paul Walstad, Ken Ward, Richard Giallella and Mark Stange, manager.

Coach Jerry Groninger presented varsity track letters to 24 athletes: Jim Norris and Jack Kelly, co-captains; Bruce Baxter, John Fenn, John Kowalski, George Smith, William Oliver, Thomas Reynolds, Bruce Olsen, Henry Schmidt, Albert Spencer, Joseph Squitieri, Arthur Brooks, James Beachel, James McKeever, Larry Mueller, Larry Madden, Roscoe Williams, Elvin Weber, William Aiken, Jay Gallagher, Peter Heiberger, David Metzger and Jeffrey Rake, manager.

TOP PHS ATHLETE: John Kowalski has been named the outstanding athlete of the year at Princeton High School. He earned letters in football, basketball and track.

SPRINGDALE EVENTS WON

By Women Members. Nine teams participated last week in the ladies' day better-ball-of-partners tournament at Springdale Golf Club. Low net for 18 holes was won with a 72 by Mrs. Alan C. Poole and Mrs. John L. Cullen.

Of the 13 teams competing in the nine-hole tournament on the same day, Mrs. Harrison S. Fraker and Mrs. Daniel D. Dickey won with a net 37.

Winner of the ladies' spring 18-hole handicap tournament at Springdale was Mrs. O. Kline Fulmer, with Mrs. James Thornton runner-up. Mrs. Donald A. Fruland won the beaten-eight division, and Mrs. Poole was runner-up.

The nine-hole handicap tournament was won by Mrs. Margery C. Baker, with Mrs. Fred M. Blaicher runner-up.

OFFICERS NAMED

By Golf and Tennis Club. The election of officers and trustees of the Princeton Golf and Tennis Club has been announced. The club, which will be located in an area near the intersection of Beden's Brook Road and Province Line Road, plans to open the golf course and other facilities to its membership by early summer next year.

Officers elected are: John P. Murray Jr., president; Bruce Gould and Dr. David B. Miller, vice-presidents; Thomas F. Huntington, treasurer; Daniel P. Pierce Jr., secretary. COLUMBIAN CARBON WINS

Now Lone Unbeaten Team. A 9-8 decision over ETS which it wrapped up in the bottom of the seventh gave Columbian Carbon the distinction of being the last team to maintain a perfect mark in the Business Softball League. It also brought with it sole possession of first place.

Don Waltz was the winning pitcher, getting the same solid support at the plate his teammates have been providing since the season began. Alex Golembeski paced the attack with three for three.

RCA, defending champion, brought its record even with the .500 mark by defeating last-place American Cyanamid, 10 to 5. Dave Richman hammered out a triple and a homer; Art Hahn was the winning pitcher.

A 22-hit attack by ERC produced an equal number of runs, powering it to a 22-0

SCHEDULE COMPLETED

In Tennis Program. A complete schedule and staff for the summer season has been announced by Mrs. Eve Kraft, director of the Princeton Community Tennis Program.

Classes will begin June 24. They will include three sessions, each of three weeks duration. However, students may also register on a weekly basis if they prefer. A complete list of classes may be obtained from Mrs. Kraft or from Norman Van Arsdalen, Director of Physical Education for Princeton Township Schools and William Humes, Princeton High School tennis coach.

Classes for players of all levels of ability will be held at different courts throughout town. To accommodate summer school students, both morning and afternoon classes are planned.

Those eligible to enroll are boys who have finished third grade through high school and girls, fourth grade through high school. Beginners and intermediate classes are planned for women.

Miss Dede Shipway, a member of the Middle States Junior Wightman Cup Team, 1962, will return as a member of the instructional staff, together with Mrs. Kraft, Van Arsdalen, and Humes.

New members include Joseph Diefenbach, physical education teacher at Valley Road and Community Park Schools, and Robert Mosier, varsity player at Trenton State Teacher's College. The staff will be assisted by a corps of advanced junior high and senior high school players.

LEAGUE TO OPEN JULY 1

Contract Deadline Saturday. Saturday is the deadline for contracts to play in the Princeton YMCA Junior Baseball League. To be eligible, a boy must have reached his 13th but not his 16th birthday by July 1.

The four-team league will open July 1 with L. C. Bowers meeting Princeton Water Company at the Princeton High School diamond. Matthews Construction and Nassau Oil will meet the following day on the same field. A league all-star game will be held July 4.

PIRATES, GIANTS VIE

For Midget League Lead. Entering the last week of play, the Plainsboro Lions Pirates and the Palmer Square Giants are neck and neck in their drive for first place in the National League division of Princeton YMCA Midget League. Both teams have won seven and lost two, but the Pirates have played one more game, a tie, for a three-point advantage over the former World Series champions.

In the American League, the First National Bank Indians appear to have the title wrapped up. Losing only one game in ten starts the Indians now have a commanding eight-point lead over the second-place Nassau Oil Tigers. Thus the Indians will be the American League representative in the World Series, scheduled to start on Monday.

In action last week, the Indians defeated the Nassau Savings and Loan Athletics, 4-2, while the Tigers blanked the Princeton Kiwanis Orioles, 5-0. The Laidlaw Senators were edged by the Nassau Fund Red Sox, 3-2, and Hulit's Yankees held the Athletics to a 9-9 tie.

In National League play, somewhat curtailed by rain, the Pirates clung to their lead with a 9-6 decision over the University Store Braves. The Giants kept pace, walloping the Princeton Lions Cardinals, 11-6, while the Princeton Rotary Dodgers slipped by the Princeton Bank and Trust Phillies, 7-6. The Phillies, in turn, posted a 6-3 victory over the Cardinals.

The standings:

American League	W.	L.	T.	Pts.
Indians	9	1	0	46
Tigers	7	3	0	38
Athletics	5	3	2	34
Orioles	3	5	2	26

$89,997 RAISED

By Dutch Neck Church. In a one-day canvass conducted by 77 volunteers, $89,997.60 has been raised in gifts and pledges for new church school facilities at First Presbyterian Church, Dutch Neck. Arthur L. Everett and Jesse C Coleman were co-chairmen of the drive.

Assisting the chairmen were: Robert L. Holiday, preparation; Lester D Applegate and David P Rinker, promotion; J Edgar Moomaw, Jr., personnel; Mrs. Raymond E. Phillips, arrangements; Mrs. Raymond G. Conover, staff; John E Kiegler, finance, and Lewis B Chamberlin, follow-up. The Rev W. D Kramer of the Board of National Missions served as campaign director.

The 550 members of the congregation were asked to contribute at least three percent of the family income to the building fund for three years. Gifts were also solicited from friends of the church.

Plans call for a three-building educational unit on Mill Road, immediately to the north of the church. Founded about 1775, and organized in 1816, the church now has an enrollment of 393 in the Christian education department, which has doubled in size since 1939. The Rev James S. Weaver is pastor.

Newton, John W. Counts, George B Field and the Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson of Witherspoon Church; Lawrence B Johnston, Mrs. R.V. Cortelyou, Mrs. Mary A. Riker and the Rev. VANDALS FLOOD CELLAR

Of Hun School Building. The basement of a Hun School classroom building was flooded sometime last weekend by vandals who entered a washroom, stuffed up the drain and then left both faucets running.

The building, located north of the school's athletic field, was entered through a boiler room basement window. The vandals had previously removed an iron gate from a stone casement. Once inside, they smeared the blackboards of a room with ointment and defaced a wall outside the room.

They also coated a water cooler drain with ointment and blocked it with a sweater. With the drain sealed, they then placed heavy books atop the footpedal of the water cooler, causing the water to run over and flood the floor.

Senators Meet Here Friday

It's been a long time between visits. The last time a congressional group held an official meeting on the Princeton campus, according to available historians, was in 1783 when the Congressional Congress sat in Nassau Hall.

This Friday it happens again, though on a more modest scale. At 9:30 a.m. the Senate Sub-Committee on Migratory Labor will convene in Whig Hall to hold a public hearing on the National Service Corps, a domestic equivalent of the Peace Corps.

Among the ten who will give testimony to Senator Harrison Williams' committee will be two recent TOWN TOPICS' nominees for Man of the Week, Juvenile Referee Howard W. Stepp and Professor Melvin M. Tumin, noted sociologist.
